Coronavirus Update:

To our Patrons, Musicians and Volunteers:

The Missoula Symphony Association is closely monitoring the outbreak of the Coronavirus and how it could potentially affect our concerts on April 18th and 19th. As of today, we are moving forward with holding our concerts as scheduled as there are no current, confirmed cases in Missoula or the state of Montana. We anticipate this status could change as the situation unfolds and we will keep you updated on any Missoula Symphony schedule changes, if the need arises.

We are in close contact with the University of Montana and the Dennison Theatre staff. Please be assured everyone is working hard to stay on top of the Coronavirus. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), the state Department of Public Health and Human Services (DPHHS), and the Missoula City-County Health Department (MCCHD) have been and will continue to closely monitor the outbreak of Coronavirus Disease (COVID-19).

If you have any questions, please contact our Executive Director Jo May Salonen at jomay@missoulasymphony.org or call 406-721-3194.

Thank you!

Jo May Salonen
